The Solid South Short-Lived.
From the Ciscinnati Commercial.

It is possible for the "Solid South," with the aid of the ancient and rockribbed Democratic party, to occupy and possess the country "just once," but the period of power would be necessarily brief and nusatisfactory. The corner of the country in which slavery existed and the Southern Confederacy was formed and fought, will always remain an important part of the national domain; but it is not, and never will be, equal to all the other parts. Not only the subjugation of the Southern Confederacy and the abolition of the slavery interest have pronounced against the South as an equal part of the nation, the growth of the country has declared gainst it. The Southern Confederacy in the United States Senate, is not thoroughly a Southern State. Northern emigration is changing the character of the State gradually lbut surely. St. Louis is no longer pretending that she is tropical in her proclivities. The Southern dank was turned when the North overwhelmed the South in Kansas. The free State of Kansas appeared in country has declared against it. Ines South is cornered. Missouri, though loyal to the Southern Confederacy in the United States Senate, is not horoughly a Southern State. Northern emigration is changing the character of the State gradually but surely. St. Louis is no longer pretending that she is tropical in her proclivities. The Southern State of Kansas appeared in front of the slave column, and Missouri is slowly going the way of Kansas; and Missouri is the heart of the nation. Texas, the France of America, is receiving an immense Northern emigration, and will presently cease to belong to the solid South. Indeed, in the vote on the army bill she asserted her independence of the domination of the Confederace of the domination of the Confederace of the domination of the Confederace hugaboo. This is only the first symptom. She will rapidly outgrow the Southern Confederacy, and care as little for its traditions as they care in New York for the history of the St. Nations of aborigines. Arkansas has been growing in intelligence and liberality even more rapidly than in wealth and population. She has the good fortune to poscess some enlightened public men, foremost among them Senaator Garland. The solid South will soon have to do without any States west of the Mississippi, for the tendency in Missouri, Arkansas and Texas is distinct and irressitable, and if the South exries its Pacific railroad project it can but hasten the revolution in the Southwest by strengthening the current of emigration which sweeps from the northwest of the Mississippi toward the guil as the Guil Stream sweeps north from the sultry seas. It was in Kansas that the Southwest by the immensely-developed Northwest, which caught the emigration during the war that would have been distributed over the scentinent if peace had prevailed. The same influence is felt on the be Montenegrin or Turkish.

6. The cession to Russia of a part of Bessarabia. This, undoubtedly, mean the restoration of the boundary previous Bessarabia. This, undoutedly, heast the restoration of the boundary previous to the Crimean War, including the Sulma month of the Danube. If the independence of Roumania be conceded, Turkey will have nothing to do with this matter. The territory will belong to Roumania, which will be very loth to part with it, but cannot resist. England will undoubtedly enter a protest; Germany and Austria will not be particularly pleased; but the pride of Russia centres on this one claim. She has never lost an inch of territory without recovering it, sooner or later. She will wait a generation—a century—two centuries; but she never forgets, never misses her chance. 7. The annexation of a part of Armenia. Just how much Russia will demand in Asia is still uncertain. It will include Kars and Batoum, but not probably Erzeroum and Trebizond, except as security until the money indemnity shall have been paid.

have to do without any States west of the Mississippi, for the tendency in Missouri, Arkanasa and Texas is distinct and irresatible, and if the South carries its Pacific railroad project it can but hasten the revolution in the Southeest by strengthening the current of emigration which sweeps from the northwest of the Mississippi toward the gulf as the Gulf Stream sweeps north from the sultry seas. It was in Kansas that the Southern power was checked. Kansas is backed by the immensely-developed Northwest, which caught the emigration during the war that would have been distributed over the scontinent if peace had prevailed. The same influence is felt on the Pacific coast, as shown by the vote of Oregon and California, as well as Colorado and Nevada, for Hayes. If the democratic party submits itself to the Soild South, and takes up the role of mourner over the southern confederacy, and devote itself to the bodslete succeptibilities of the South that were overcome by the national arms, that party has nothing to hope for on the Pacific coast; or in the Northwest, and must soon succumb to the aroused national sentiment. The Southwest will follow the Northwest, and the South will be compressed between the Mississippi, the Gulf and the Atlantic; and the pocket of Indiana filled with sonthern emigrants, and the concentration of Europeans in and about New York city, and voling in three states. Editors Intelligencer.

Quite an excitement was created in our quiet town on Saturday last by the visit of the Zouaves from Wheeling. They looked real nice in their new uniforms, and it was wonderful how well they drill. There were some stragglers from the main body, and they seemed to be determined to improve the time until the late train by practicing marching with some of the fair ones of Moundsville. Whether they were trying to teach them the Zouave drill or not I am not able to say, but both parties seemed to enjoy it. enjoy it.

To Keep Isory Handes White.—The whiteness may be restored to ivory handles as follows: Wash with soaped flannel and lukewarm water; then wipe very dry; soak them occasionally in alum water that has been boiled, and allowed to cool; let the handles lie for one hour in this: in a few days, and are to be mustered in-to the service some time next week. The Mitchell family gave an afternoon that has been boiled, and allowed to cool; let the handles lie for one hour in this; then remove them and brush them well (say with a nail brush;) after this take a clean linen towel, dip it in cold water, squeeze it out, and while wet wrap it around the handles, leaving them in it to dry gradually, as if dried too rapidly out of the alum water the handles will be injured. matinee on Saturday, and an entertain-ment at night. The performance was first-class and deserved a much more libment at night. The performance was first-class and deserved a much more liberal patronage than it received, though at night the audience was fair. The afternoon performance was for the benefit of the little folks, but the Wheeling soldiers possessed far more attraction for the majority of them than did the performance.

The meeting still continues at the M. E. Church, and is growing in interest. Six were at the altar last night and there was one conversion. Rev. Warden, the pastor in charge, preaches every night and is wonderfully in caraest. By the way his sermons are all masterly productions and they are delivered with great power and effect.

A citizen, who is a large land holder, living on the route of the proposed pike between this place and Wheeling, was urging me to say a word, now and then, in favor of the building of the road. I was led to the conclusion that when such men through whose land it will run and whose property will have to be taxed to build it, are in favor of it, it would be well for both cities to favor its construction. It would surely be a great conve-nience to each place. X.

A few days ago Mr. M. Gillet Gill, arrived in this city from Wheeling, W. Va., and learned that a letter had been malled to him by mistake to Wheeling, Ohio. It contained matters of importance to Mr. the agreement, only two-or, at most, three-of which may be somewhat mod-ified by the co-operation of all the Powers Gill who, in hopes of its recovery, addressed the following letter to the Ohio Post BALTIMORE, January 21.

DEAR SIR—I had a letter addressed to me, Wheeling, Ohio, instead of Wheeling, W. Va. The letter was from Balto. If yo have it in your possession please for-ward it to me to Balto,, care of Martin, Gillet & Co., and oblige Yours, respectfully, M. GILLET GILL.

Recognizing President Hayes' efforts to elevate the Civil Service, especially in his native Ohio, Mr. Gill looked for a prompt reply to his note. And he got it. By return mail he received an envelope addressed as follows:

MR. BALTO:
In Cair of Martin

The envelope was from Ohio, and breaking the seal, Mr. Gill found the let-ter he had written to the Wheeling Post master, with the following reply scrawled beneath:

Country Road Making.

A New York correspondence of the American Outlivetor upon the subject of road-making truly says:

Despite an increased waste of labor in misdirected road-making I am glad to believe that our country roads are yearly growing better. It is bad enough now, but not nearly so bad as I can remember. Something is due probably to the wasting away of vegetable matter in the soil. As the mould has washed away, or been dissipated by the burning suns of summer, the soil has become compact, this process does not help the fertility of our cultivated fields, but there is a decided comfort in knowing that it does make the roads better. Another great improvement in country roads has come from underdraining. As farmers have underdrained their fields the roads have been crossed, giving an outlet for the water three or four feet below the surface at the lowest places. The great benefit of such drainage is immediately noticeable, and grows more so year by year, as it is a will known fact that a properly made underdrain will remove the surphus water from a wider area ten years after its construction than it will at the first.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea WEBD TONIC AND MANDBAKE PILLS.—
These descreedly celebrated and popular medicines have effected a revolution in the healing art, and proved the fallagy of several maxims which have for many years obstructed the progress of medical science. The false supposition that "Consumption is incurable" deterred physicians from attempting to find remedies for that disease, and patients afflicted with it reconciled themselves to death without making an effort to escape from a doom which they supposed to be unavoidable. It is now proved, however, that Consumption can be cured in a very creat Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea posed to be unavoidable. It is now proved however, that Consumption can be cured and that it has been cured in a very great number of cases (some of them apparently desperate ones) by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone; and in other cases by the same medicine in connection with Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, one or both, according to the requirements of the case.

or both, according to the requirements of the case.

Dr. Schenck himself who enjoyed uninterrupted good health for more than forty years, was supposed at one time to be at the very gate of death, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless, and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforeasid medicines, and, since his recovery, many thousands similarly affected have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

Mustard Plasters.—In mixing a mustard plaster use no water, but mix the mustrd with the white of an egg. The result will be a plaster which will "draw" plenty, but not blister on the skin of an infant, no matter how long it is allowed to remain on the part. The usual way is to mix the mustard with water, tempering with a little flour, but such a one is simply abominable. Before it has half done its work it begins to blister and leaves the patient with a painful, flayed spot, after
